

1215 Hornblend Drive

San Diego, CA · 10 units · Acquired October 2022

LEVERED RETURN	PROFIT
28.28%	$535,700

THE OPPORTUNITY

A ten-unit asset in San Diego's Pacific Beach submarket — one of the most consistently rent-resilient infill rental markets in Southern California. VWC's third San Diego acquisition (after 9062 Kenwood and 630 W. Washington), continuing the build-out of a Southern California-wide portfolio rather than an OC-only one.

THE STRATEGY

Renovate, stabilize, exit. CapEx of $231K (6.7% of acquisition) — a lighter CapEx ratio than the heavier 2022 deals, reflecting a property in better entering condition.

INVESTOR TAKEAWAY

A 28% levered return in San Diego's coastal infill market — same value-add framework, different metro. Hornblend confirms that VWC's approach is portable across Southern California's dense submarkets without giving up underwriting discipline.
